Puerto Rico to Host Rum and Jazz Fests

Published on: May 13, 2009

The 2009 Puerto Rico International Rum Festival (www.tasteofrum.com) will take place in Old San Juan, May 23 and 24. The festival will showcase the varieties of rum from the Caribbean, Central and South America, a rum contest, food and music. Tickets start at $10 plus tax and proceeds will benefit SAPIENTIS, a non-profit organization set up to help improve the quality of Puerto Rico's public education system.

Meanwhile, the 19th edition of the Puerto Rico Heineken JazzFest 2009 will be held May 28 to 31, at the Tito Puente Amphitheater in San Juan. From Eddie Palmieri to Lambística (Downbeat Magazine's 2008 Jazz Group of the Year), JazzFest features four days of outdoor concerts. For more information, visit www.prheinekenjazz.com.
